VISITS

Saturday 11 October 2014, 7pm

Free entry, screening starts at 7:30pm

Curate Projects is pleased to present recent video works by London-based artists Freya Gabie, Martin Guinard-Terrin, Matt Parsons and Nelmarie du Preez during an evening of screenings as part of our VISITS series.

VISITS is an ongoing programme of events that directly results from our current curatorial research. The aim is to share this research with the public and to simultaneously act as a platform for artists to introduce their ideas to a small to medium scale audience. The programme will introduce individual positions rather than an overarching theme.

These collaborations begin through conversations and studio visits with emerging London-based artists. Participating artists are encouraged to use this platform to show work in progress and to test experimental ideas on audiences. Depending on their practices, the events will take the shape of screenings, short exhibitions, talks or performances.

About Curate Projects

Curate Projects operates as a platform for artistic and curatorial experimentation based in London. Five art professionals initiated the collective in 2012 on the occasion of their first exhibition in Berlin. Curate Projects aims to create opportunities for emerging and established artists to create work and engage the public. The collective works closely with artists from conception to production. Their projects usually happen outside of the established art market and institutions.
